

GTreasury's Warren Davey and SWIFT's Mike Lewis to Instruct Treasury Professionals on the Many Benefits of ISO 20022 at the Minnesota AFP Conference

Flexible framework for financial communications can enable faster onboarding, higher STP rate for automated processing and reconciliation of payments, and improve interoperability

LAKE ZURICH, IL – (April 27, 2017) Financial and treasury professionals seeking to streamline their domestic and cross-border financial communications infrastructure should plan on attending “I So Want to Know About ISO 20022” at the Minnesota Association for Financial Professionals’ 35th Annual Conference in Saint Paul, Minnesota on Tuesday, May 2.

Warren Davey, Executive Vice President of GTreasury, and Mike Lewis, Regional Sales Manager of SWIFT will co-host this breakout session on ISO 20022, the universal financial industry message scheme, which defines the ISO platform for the development of financial message standards.

First focused on international (cross-border) financial communication between financial institutions, the open and flexible ISO 20022 also serves as a common standard for developing domestic financial messages. It enables the streamlining of all communications for financial institutions and delivers solid benefits that include:

- Reduced time and effort to design new business flows and new messages because it has reduced all people in design to speak the same business language.
- Testing tools that accelerate customer onboarding, enabling corporations to implement their systems and join new banking partners in days or weeks, rather than in months.
- Higher STP rate for the automated processing of payments, the automated reconciliation of payments and invoices, the reduction of manual exceptions and the harmonization of diverse payment processes.
- Rich data sets that allow users to be agile and responsive in innovating and providing new services.

GTreasury will also exhibit at the conference in Booth #400. Those who are unable to attend the conference and wish to learn more about GTreasury solutions may click here for more information.
